DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The use of the trademark VELCRO® has been noted in this application. It should be capitalized wherever it appears and be accompanied by the generic terminology.

Although the use of trademarks is permissible in patent applications, the proprietary nature of the marks should be respected and every effort made to prevent their use in any manner which might adversely affect their validity as trademarks.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. Claims 1-37 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 1, line 4, the phrase "an interactive calendar and/or an event count-down chart" is indefinite because it is unclear if the applicant is positively claiming the calendar only or the combination of the calendar and the event countdown chart. The examiner suggest the following phrase "the second side being configurable to comprise at least one interactive calendar and an event countdown chart. Note similar language in claim 24.

In claim 2, the phrase "the material comprises one of the following materials: fabric, cardboard, plastic, posterboard, metal, or wood is indefinite because it is unclear positively claiming each of the items fabric, cardboard, plastic, posterboard, metal, or wood. The examiner suggest the use of the Markush phraseology: "wherein the material is selected from the group consisting of fabric, cardboard, plastic, posterboard, metal, and wood". (See MPEP 1273.05(h)).

Note similar language in claims 4, 10, 15, 20, 21, 25, and 34-36.

In claim 8, the phrase "the one or more card pockets" lacks antecedent basis.

Claim 10 and 25 contains the trademark/trade name VELCRO®. Where a trademark or trade name is used in a claim as a limitation to identify or describe a particular material or product, the claim does not comply with the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph. See Ex parte Simpson, 218 USPQ 1020 (Bd. App. 1982). The claim scope is uncertain since the trademark or trade name cannot be used properly to identify any particular material or product. A trademark or trade name is used to identify a source of goods, and not the goods themselves. Thus, a trademark or trade name does not identify or describe the goods associated with the trademark or trade name. In the present case, the trademark/trade name is used to identify/describe hook and loop fasteners and, accordingly, the identification/description is indefinite.

3. Regarding claim 15, lines 6-7, the phrase "etc, or any other holiday or special occasion" renders the claim(s) indefinite because the claim(s) include(s) elements not actually disclosed (those encompassed by "etc, or any other holiday or special occasion"), thereby rendering the scope of the claim(s) unascertainable. See MPEP § 2173.05(d).

Note similar language in claim 20, 21, and 34.

Claim 18 is indefinite because the applicant does not claim structure to support the calendar's ability to become a countdown chart.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claims 1-4, 6, 7, 18, 24-26, 36, and 37 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Brooks, U. S. Patent 955,114. Brooks teaches a bookmark comprising a narrow strip of resilient celluloid material having a calendar on one side and a measuring rule on the reverse side. (lines 21-29). The examiner considers the measuring rule to correspond to the growth chart.

With respect to claims 3 and 4, Brooks teaches a hook-like member or holder 2 for hanging the marker from the edge of a page of a book.

With respect to claim 6 and 25, Brooks teaches printing directly on the celluloid material or printing on a piece of paper and adhering the paper to the celluloid material.

With respect to claim 7, Brooks teaches an area below the rule area to accommodate addition indicia such as advertisement.

With respect to claim 18, the examiner considers the calendar to inherently correspond to the count down chart.

6. Claims 1, 2, 6, 7, 18, 24-26, 36, and 37 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Goodrich, U. S. Patent 365,916. Goodrich teaches a combined ruler and calendar comprising a thin strip of wood, rubber, or other materials a with a calendar e disposed on one side and ruler marking f printed on the opposite side.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

7. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

8. Claims 5, 8, and 27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Goodrich. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time this invention was made to construct the combined calendar and ruler as long as desired to provide a means for measuring a larger area.

9. Claims 5, 8, and 27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Brooks. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time this invention was made to construct the combined calendar and ruler as long as desired to allow for measuring a larger area.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 9-17, 19-23, 28-35 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
